The penthouse designed by Studio Marco Piva within the Neva Towers complex in Moscow, prestigious skyscrapers just completed in the business district of the city, develops between the seventy-seventh and seventy-eighth floors. Innovation and contemporary lifestyle interpenetrate and interact in harmony in the interior design, characterized by light and neutral tones contrasted by the finishes and furnishings richness, with lights that recall the vibrations of the walls and emphasize precious details, and a design that plays with the transparencies of the windows, recapturing a connection with the outside, in an osmotic dialogue between indoor and outdoor.

The most modern technological solutions combine with design, camouflaging in it: an "intelligent" environment, yet aesthetically elegant and prestigious. An avant-garde housing, dynamic and highly functional for the contemporary man.
